Criminal Acts Committed By Predators While Residing in America’s Long-Term Care Facilities

Introduction
Since April 2004 A Perfect Cause, the nursing home watchdog group, has located over 800 registered sex offenders, as well as other types of criminal offenders living as resident’s in America’s nursing homes and other long-term care facilities.

A Perfect Cause’s ongoing investigations have documented 44 criminal offenders who have committed criminal acts while residing in America’s long-term care facilities.

This report documents these criminal acts and their perpetrators through police and court records, online offender registries, and media reports.

It is important to note, A Perfect Cause does not have access to all federal, state, or local law enforcement and/or long-term care regulatory agency records across the nation.

The organization has also found that these agencies typically do not report and/or track all cases of murder, rape, sexual assault, physical assault, theft, and other crimes committed in long-term care facilities.

Therefore the scope of criminal acts committed by criminal offenders while living as residents in long-term care facilities is in all probability far greater than those cases documented in this report.

Synopsis of Offenders including age ranges, criminal acts committed while residing in long-term care facilities, possible number of victims, previous criminal offenses, and number of offenders by type of previous offenses:

Predators in America’s Nursing Homes

Background
A Perfect Cause has released two national reports titled “Predators in America’s Nursing Homes” in July 2004 and July 2005.

The first report was used in part by four Congressional leaders including Senator Chuck Grassley, Congressman Henry Waxman, Congresswoman Betty McCollum, and then Congressman Brad Carson to call upon the Government Accountability Office (GAO) for an in-depth federal investigation. This investigation was to focus on registered sex offenders who were residing in nursing and assisted living facilities, across America. Other types of criminal offenders living in long-term care facilities were to be investigated in selected states.

The Congressional leaders made their request to the GAO in August 2004. The GAO accepted that request in September 2004 and initiated their investigations on November 1, 2004.

In A Perfect Cause’s reports, the organization has identified many types of criminal offenders who are living in nursing homes and other long-term care facilities as residents.

A Perfect Cause and the media have discovered many criminal offenders were placed into long-term care facilities with vulnerable, unsuspecting non-offenders by state and county agencies.

Through the process of its investigations, A Perfect Cause has de-bunked several fairy tales, used as justification by governmental officials, long-term care industry representatives, and legislators for the placement of criminal offenders into long-term care facilities with vulnerable adults.

Since April 2004, A Perfect Cause has documented over 800 registered sex offenders living as residents in nursing facilities across America. The organization has also documented serious crimes committed by registered sex offenders and other criminal offenders while residing in long-term care facilities. These crimes have been committed against other residents, staff, and even one three-year-old visitor.
Predators in America’s Nursing Homes

Types of Predators Residing in Long-Term Care Facilities

- Registered Sex Offenders
- Inmates – Prison & County Jail
- Parolees
- Sex Offenders, Who Are Not Required to Register
- Violent Offenders, Found Incompetent to Stand Trial
- Convicted Felons
- Residents with Diminished Mental Capacity Never Charged for Assaulting Other Residents

Placement of Offenders:

Many Predators Are Placed as Residents into Long-Term Care Facilities with Unsuspecting, Vulnerable Adults by State and County Agencies including:

- County Sheriffs
- Department of Corrections
- Department of Human Services
- District Attorneys
- District Court Judges

Fairy Tales

Justifications used by Federal, State, and Local Officials Regarding the Housing of Predators in Long-Term Care Facilities with Disabled and Elderly Non-Offenders include:

- They Are Old
- Elderly Offenders Are Safe
- Disabled, Incapacitated, or Wheelchair Bound Offenders Do Not Post A Threat
- Child Molesters Pose No Threat To Elderly People
- Only Sex Offenders Are A Threat
- These Facilities are Safe and Staff Are Adequately Trained
- Sex Is Consensual

At Nursing Home, A Rape Arrest
The Boston Globe
By Alice Dembner, Globe Staff
Feb 10, 2005

A registered sex offender living in a Norwood nursing home has been arrested and charged with raping his 90-year-old male roommate, according to police and court records.

John A. Enos, 68, had been convicted in the late 1980s of sex crimes against children, according to the state sex offender registry. He was one of four level 3 offenders -- those considered most likely to commit another sex crime -- living in Massachusetts nursing homes, according to an advocacy group. A fifth level 3 offender works in the kitchen of another nursing home.

Norwood police arrested Enos Tuesday at the Emerald Court Health & Rehabilitation Center, and he is being held on $10,000 bail at Lemuel Shattuck Hospital in Jamaica Plain, police said. Police statements filed at Dedham District Court following his arraignment Tuesday say that a nurse interrupted Enos sexually assaulting his roommate Sunday. Enos pleaded not guilty. His attorney could not be reached for comment yesterday.

Nursing home administrators knew of his sex offender status, but would not say yesterday what precautions they took to protect residents.

Enos was convicted in 1987 of three counts of rape and abuse of a child and three counts of indecent assault and battery on a child under 14 years of age, according to the state sex offender registry. He was also convicted of two counts of indecent assault on a child in 1988. Police reports filed in court said Enos told them he had served 15 years in prison.

Officer Robert Baker, who handles sex registry issues for Norwood police, said he did not previously see Enos as a threat. "He was bedridden," Baker said last month. "This is not someone who is going to be roaming around. He's in tough shape and lost part of his foot." The roommate told police that Enos assaulted him; the police said the roommate told them: "No, no, no. I did not want this."

Sex Offender Charged In Nursing Home Case
KMBC-TV
Martin Augustine
Nov 10, 2005

A registered sex offender is accused of sexual misconduct at a Kansas City nursing home.

Kenneth Ferrell, 49, was charged with two counts of first-degree sexual misconduct. His alleged victims are two women who are incapable of moving or speaking, KMBC's Martin Augustine reported.

The alleged incidents occurred at Clara Manor Nursing Home, where Ferrell is a resident. Court documents claim that Ferrell fondled two female residents, both of whom are incapacitated and defenseless.

"She can't walk, talk, she wears a diaper, she's tube fed, she requires you to bathe her," said Lisa Craddock, the mother of one of the alleged victims. Craddock's daughter, who is in her 20s, has been incapacitated all her life by a birth defect and disease.

According to court documents, nursing home staffers observed Ferrell touching both victims' bodies with his hands. The documents also state that Ferrell was convicted of rape in 1993 and has a history of violent behavior.

Craddock handles much of her daughter's care, but she said she counts on nursing home staff to keep her daughter safe.

"Detectives told me that he had fondled my daughter and her roommate ... And then they also informed me that he was a sex offender," Craddock said. "I'm just totally shocked."

Craddock wonders if her daughter has been abused before.

"She can't push you off of her. She can't scream, cry or anything. So, who's to say what all he's done and how long he's been doing it?" Craddock said.

Ferrell is being held in police custody.

Sex Offender Charged, Freed
Newsday
BY JENNIFER SINCO KELLEHER
Oct 20, 2005

A registered sex offender living in an Amityville nursing home was arrested for forcibly touching a female resident, detectives said yesterday.

Robert Gregg, 53, a Level 2 sex offender, has been living at Brunswick Hospital Center’s nursing home since the end of his parole last year, Amityville police said. He was convicted in 2001 for first-degree attempted rape of a 60-year-old woman, Amityville police Det. Bruce Pescitelli said.

When Gregg moved in, police notified the hospital of his conviction. But under sex offender notification laws, the hospital was not obligated to notify its patients that a Level 2 offender was living at the nursing home since last year, Pescitelli said.

Hospital officials did not return calls for comment yesterday.

"Our police agency did periodic checks on him at the nursing home," Pescitelli said. "The staff advised us he would not be in a room alone with any other patients."

But on Wednesday morning Gregg entered the room of an 84-year-old woman, Pescitelli said. Gregg, who lived at the nursing home because he suffered a stroke, pulled the covers off the woman and began stroking her upper thigh, Pescitelli said.

The woman complained to her daughter who visited later that morning. The daughter told the home’s staff and police were called, Pescitelli said.

Gregg was arrested and charged with forcible touching, a misdemeanor. He was later released to his family without bail, Pescitelli said.

Nursing Home Did Not Report Beating
The Toledo Blade
CHRISTINA HALL
Mar 29, 2006

The nursing home where an Alzheimer's patient allegedly was beaten by his roommate and later died did not notify the Ohio Department of Health and Toledo police of the assault, authorities said yesterday.

In addition, the suspect in the death - Sharon John Hawkins - was charged with kidnapping and assault after two unrelated incidents at two different group homes in 2000 and 2001. Both charges were dismissed in September because the state was "unable to proceed," according to court records.

Mr. Hawkins, 62 - whom police said has a mental disorder and dementia - was charged with murder in the death of 77-year-old Norbert Konwin.

Mr. Hawkins is accused of hitting Mr. Konwin with a bathroom towel bar in their room March 10 at Foundation Park Care Center, 1621 South Byrne Rd. Mr. Konwin sustained fractured ribs, a fractured nose, and a collapsed lung and was hospitalized for four days. He was returned to Foundation Park, where he died Friday.

Court records obtained by The Blade indicate this is not the first time Mr. Hawkins - who also once had an address at a Toledo psychiatric hospital - has been charged in an incident at a care facility.

In 2001, he was charged with felony kidnapping when he put a knife to the throat of an employee at a group home on North Detroit Avenue, police said.

A police report indicates Mr. Hawkins pushed and kicked another patient to the ground, ran into the kitchen, grabbed a knife, grabbed the victim by her hair, and put the knife to her throat.

A year earlier, he was accused of misdemeanor assault against a counselor at a Vance Street group home. The counselor suffered injuries, including scratches and bruises to his face, nose, and neck, according to court records.

Mr. Hawkins pleaded not guilty to the assault charge and the case twice was set for a hearing. The victim failed to appear each time, records indicate.

Both charges were dismissed and the prosecutor asked that open warrants be withdrawn, the records state. The prosecutor could not be reached yesterday for comment.

July 19, 2004 Oklahoma City Police Dept. -- Crime Report # 04-070251
5725 S. Ross Ave, OKC - South Park nursing home - “the calling party found a resident (HEDRICK) (40-years-old) naked on top of another female resident (77-years-old) and stated the female is normally in a confused state.

IP at 2135 hours, was passing out snacks and came to a closed door at VI room. IP advised me that the door is not normally closed and the VI did not have a roommate. IP knocked first and then opened the door to find AR (HEDRICK) lying on top of the VI. AR (HEDRICK) had her arms around VI’s neck and her nightgown was lifted to the upper portion of her torso and she was completely exposed on the bottom half. AR (HEDRICK) also was completely exposed on his bottom half.

IP said that AR immediately sat up on the edge of the foot of the bed and she could clearly see that he had an erected penis. It appeared that AR (HEDRICK) and VI were engaging in intercourse.

IP2 came over to the room and saw VI lying on her back with her nightgown up and exposed. AR (HEDRICK) was at her feet, with his pants down, exposed. IP told AR (HEDRICK) to get out of the room, She said he looked surprised but did not move. After having to repeat herself, AR (HEDRICK) eventually got up and went to his room.

I was advised by IP that the VI was of unsound mind and that her doctor diagnosed her with Alzheimers Disease with dementia and most of the time the VI would not be in her right mind... AR was being rehabilitated for a meth induced stroke and his condition was physical not mental.

Aug. 31, 2005 District Attorney’s Report to Oklahoma County Board of Commissioners
"In one case, a police report was filed against an individual for an alleged rape occurring at a nursing home. However, after the matter was investigated by the police, it was found that the alleged victim had the ability to consent and did consent to the sexual activity. Therefore, no charges were filed. Because no charges were filed, this office declines to identify the alleged suspect but he is included as one of the individuals Mr. Bledsoe expressed concern."

NURSING HOME RAPE SHOCKER
New York Daily News
By KERRY BURKE, JOSE MARTINEZ and TRACY CONNOR
May 9, 2004

A double amputee confessed to raping and beating a 78-year-old invalid in the Brooklyn nursing home where they both lived, prosecutors said yesterday.

Samuel Irving, 43, was arraigned last night in Brooklyn Criminal Court for the depraved attack at the Greenpark Care Center in Fort Greene.

Irving, 43, with both legs amputated below the knees after a truck accident, was arrested after an orderly caught him in the victim's room.

The bedridden woman, who had been at the home just a week, was in serious condition yesterday at Bellevue Hospital with a broken eye socket, internal bleeding and other injuries.

"A nurse cannot be in a dozen places at one time," said Paul Parawan, assistant administrator at the 400-bed facility. "It's not a prison. [Patients] have their freedom to move around as they wish."

The crime was discovered about 8:30 p.m. when an orderly found Irving, who uses a wheelchair and prosthetic limbs to get around, hitting the woman, officials said.

She was unconscious and bleeding from the mouth.

Cops were called, and they arrested Irving, a formerly homeless man who has five drug, weapons and robbery arrests on his record.

It wasn't until the victim was taken to the hospital that the sexual assault was discovered and Irving was charged with rape.

Prosecutors said he took off the woman's adult diaper and that his ring was found in her bed.

But Greenpark officials denied that the woman had been sexually abused, saying the suspect's pants were on when they found him.

They insisted Irving was in the victim's room - which she shared with another patient - for just three minutes while a nurse and three aides assigned to the floor made rounds.

"It's not something that we could have foreseen," Parawan said.

He also gave a glowing description of Irving, who has been undergoing rehab at the home for the past year.

"He has been sort of a ladies' gentleman," Parawan said. "He's always been helpful to the rest of the residents."

Irving, who said nothing at his arraignment, was ordered held without bail. With Jonathan Lemire

WRONG FOOTED "RAPIST"

A double amputee accused of raping a 78-year-old woman in a Brooklyn nursing home has been charged with trying to hire a hit man to whack the bedridden granny, the staffer who caught him — and the prosecutor handling the case.

Samuel Irving, 43 — apparently angry about being indicted — put a $2,000 price tag on Assistant DA Heide Mason's head, court documents charge.

But Irving wanted the job done on credit — promising to pay only after he was released from the slammer, the papers say.

Irving, who's scheduled to appear in Brooklyn Supreme Court today for a pretrial hearing, has been charged with three counts of second-degree murder conspiracy for trying to hire the hit man.

In paperwork filed at the court yesterday, Brooklyn DA Charles Hynes asks that a special prosecutor be assigned to handle the rape and conspiracy cases.

He notes that two of the conspiracy counts are based on Irving's "solicitation of someone known to this office to murder the complaining witness and an eyewitness in the case" of the old woman.

Irving — who has five prior arrests on drug, weapon and robbery charges — had allegedly been seen outside his room, just yards from the victim's, minutes before the 8:30 p.m. attack.

- Sex Offender J.A. Concordia admitted J.A., a 26-year old male sex offender, to the facility on July 30, 2003. J.A. was allowed to keep his Husky dog at Concordia. The dog was allowed to wander without a leash into the dining room and put its mouth on the food of other residents. J.A., a Level 2 sex offender under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections, has a history of pedophilia. In the fall of 2003, N.M., a 43-year old female with diagnoses including mental retardation, borderline intelligence and schizophrenia, was admitted to Concordia. N.M. has been observed talking in a child-like voice, crying, and carrying a doll. Less than ten days after N.M.'s admission to Concordia, J.A. was found in N.M.'s room, fondling her “private parts”. A few days later, N.M. was taken to the emergency room for abdominal bleeding. J.A. admitted penetrating N.M.'s vagina. Witnesses observed J.A. grabbing N.M.'s buttocks. A picture of N.M. naked from the waist down, lying on her back with her legs spread apart, was found in J.A.’s wallet. Concordia instructed an employee of the facility to destroy this evidence, but he refused to do so. Concordia management thought the relationship between J.A. and N.M. was “cute” and talked about buying a ring for J.A. to present to N.M.

A male resident identified as Mirl King (86 YOA) was attempting to have sex with female residents.

05.28.2000 – 1715 hours -- CNA observes King acting suspiciously, standing next to a female resident seated in a wheelchair. King was rubbing the victim’s breasts with his right hand, then moved his right hand down to her groin area.

CNA thought it was an "innocent“ occurrence.

05.28.2000 – 1945 hours – LPN who was notified by a resident, observes King standing next to (2nd victim) with his right hand on her head. King is holding his penis in his left hand, thrusting his hips towards (2nd victim’s) face. (2nd victim’s) mouth was about two inches from King’s penis. (2nd victim) was pushing her head against King’s right hand hold.

King told LPN his wheelchair got stuck with the victim’s wheelchair.

Investigator attempted to interview 2nd victim who could not respond to her name and was unable to be interviewed due to diagnosis with Alzheimer’s and Dementia. It was obvious to the investigator that the victim could not have given consent to King’s desires.

Staff informed investigator that the resident’s rooms so not have locks on the doors. It would be impossible to keep King isolated from the other residents.

Ronald Leddy murdered his girlfriend, raped the woman who came to her aid and then went outside to smoke a cigarette while waiting for the police to arrive, officers say.

At the Beechwood Assisted Living, 200 Central St.

Johnna Orzechowski, who turned 35 on Wednesday, was stabbed and killed in her bed at 1:30 a.m. Friday.

Police allege Leddy killed her and then called a woman (the housekeeper and only staff member on duty at the time) into Orzechowski's apartment, claiming Orzechowski was sick and needed help.

Leddy raped that woman and then walked out of the apartment, instructing the woman to tell the police he would be waiting outside, detectives allege.

(Police) arrived to find Leddy smoking near the front door to the facility. He was still holding a knife smeared with blood, police allege. Police ordered him, at gunpoint, to drop the knife and he did. Leddy was arrested without incident.

Leddy, 43, has an adult criminal record that goes back 24 years. He has spent time in prison after being convicted of robbery, stolen cars, possession of a pistol and assault with the intent to commit a felony. That is charged when someone uses violence with the intent to murder, rape or rob someone.

Leddy was also a resident of Beechwood Assisted Living. Calls to the facility Friday were directed to another number where the person answering the phone said the company would have no comment on the murder.

Johnna Orzechowski was the daughter of John Orzechowski, a Pawtucket Police officer who retired as a detective sergeant in 2001.

Sex Abuse Offender Charged in Freeport
The Rockford Register Star
AARON CHAMBERS
Sep 16, 2005

Prosecutors want probation revoked for a convicted sex offender who reportedly groped three fellow residents at a Freeport nursing home.

The sex offender, identified by police as Herbert Martz, 75, was admitted to the home because the facility believed he was terminally ill. He then got better, said a police official.

A sex offender living in a nursing home is not uncommon in Illinois. State law does not preclude nursing homes from caring for sex offenders. Attorney General Lisa Madigan reported in July that 86 sex offenders live in 51 nursing homes across the state.

In Rockford, Fairview Nursing Plaza is home to three sex offenders.

The Rockford Register Star compared the addresses of sex offenders in the database with the addresses of nursing homes in Winnebago, Boone and Ogle counties. The analysis found the three sex offenders at Fairview Nursing Plaza — Anthony Riley, 51, Johnnie Johnson, 35, and Karen Molinari, 48 — but no sex offenders at other nursing homes in the three counties.

Fairview spokesman Ron Nunziato said Fairview would not admit a resident who appeared to pose a danger to other residents. He said all three sex offenders identified by the Register Star were long-term residents of Fairview.

In Stephenson County, State’s Attorney John Vogt’s action followed a state Department of Public Health investigation that concluded Martz sexually abused three female residents while living at Provena St. Joseph Center in Freeport.

The state’s report said Martz, identified as "R1," fondled three female residents in January and February. Though the incidents were witnessed by nurses, the state reported, the nursing home’s administrator and nursing director in June said they were not aware of them.

The state fined the nursing home $30,000 for failure to prevent the alleged sexual abuse. Theresa Parsek, Provena St. Joseph’s administrator, said Wednesday that Martz no longer lived at the nursing home. She was unsure of his whereabouts, but said he may be in a hospital.

“In all honesty, it sounds much worse that what it was,” she said. “I do all the abuse training in my building here personally because I feel so strongly about it. Needless to say, this is devastating to myself and management staff.”

Kuntzelman said Freeport detectives investigated the case and that no criminal charges were filed. Asked whether the case remained open, Kuntzelman deferred to Vogt, who was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Martz pleaded guilty to aggravated criminal sexual abuse, a Class 2 felony, in 2002 and was sentenced to probation. He could face jail time if his probation is revoked. The next hearing is scheduled for Oct. 6 before Stephenson County Circuit Judge Charles Hartman.

Kuntzelman said nursing home administrators knew Martz was a sex offender when they agreed to take him, but they believed he was terminally ill.

“They expected him not to live, obviously,” he said. “That was the only reason they took him in because he had nowhere else to go. So they took him in thinking he needed a place to pass away, and then he got better.”

A nursing home resident has been charged with murdering an elderly Alzheimer's patient by picking her up and throwing her on her head after she wandered into his room.

Rocky D. Mays, 46, is accused in the death of Edna Price, who was critically injured Sept. 17 at Abingdon Manor Home for Adults. The 82-year-old woman suffered a fractured skull and died 11 days later.

"One of the nurses saw the accused throw the lady out of his room and onto her head," prosecutor Dennis Godfrey said Thursday. He said he did not know why Mays was a resident of the home.

Police began investigating after the elderly woman’s son complained that she should never have been housed with Mays.

On Sept. 6, 2002 – Billy Ray McDaniel, then 65-years-old, was caught sexually battering an 89-year-old female nursing home resident while residing at the Grace Living Center nursing home on NW 10th in Oklahoma City.

McDaniel was transported to the St. Anthony’s Psychiatric Ward for evaluation.

In the Affidavit Of Probable Cause, the Oklahoma City Police Department investigator noted he interviewed McDaniel at the “Oak Hill Nursing Home” on 9-27-2002 – 21 days after allegedly sexually battering a nursing home resident.

McDaniel pled Nolo Contendre, upon which he received a five year suspended sentence. As part of his conditions, he was ordered to live in a nursing home because he was indigent and suffered from dementia.

McDaniel violated the sex offender registration act, twice. Failure to register as a sex offender is a felony punishable by up to five years imprisonment and / or a five thousand dollar fine.

A Perfect Cause located McDaniel (who was delinquent in registering for a second time while on his five year suspended sentence – reportedly he had been missing for several months) after a Tulsa FOX 23 news report and tip, in a Tulsa area nursing home. McDaniel was sent to the Oklahoma County Jail pending revocation of his suspended sentence and failure to register as a sex offender.

Convicted Rapist Held in Sex Assault

Convicted rapist Larry Sharp recently went on the prowl again, authorities say.

The first time, his victim was six months pregnant. This time, his target was a 77-year-old woman he lived alongside at a south suburban nursing home, prosecutors say.

Sharp, 54 allegedly groped the elderly woman in her room on two occasions early Monday at Mercy Health Care Rehab Center in Homewood.

Around 4 a.m., he closed her door and started to grab her in "the crotch area," an arrest report states. She started yelling, and he left.

Only after Sharp was in custody did nursing home staff learn he had served time for rape and, later, aggravated battery.

"We had no idea of a criminal background. None," said Mercy administrator Marilynn Morrisroe, adding improved screening of nursing home residents is "well needed."

A registered sex offender living in a local care facility is behind bars again, charged with raping a woman at the same facility.

A sex offender who was living in a care facility is under arrest Thursday night, charged with raping another resident.

Local 12’s Rich Jaffe found some surprising loopholes in current Ohio law, that could mean residents of these facilities do not have to be told if sex offenders live there.

This past Sunday, Rickey Smith, a convicted sex offender, and a client at the Uptowne Residential Care Facility, located at 1171 Towne Street in Bond Hill, was arrested and charged with raping another client there.

The care facility where Smith and the victim were living is attached to the Woods Edge Point Nursing Home. They’re both owned by Carrington Health Systems. They share the same administrator, although they’re licensed separately.

Sex Offenders Living In Local Nursing Homes
WKRC - CBS News 12
Rich Jaffe
Nov 21, 2005

In the state of Ohio, the average nursing home resident is 78-years-old. Most are frail and in need of supervision. That is not Rickey Smith, 43. In August, Smith, who is a registered sex offender as well as a client at the Uptowne Residential Care Facility in Bond Hill, admitted to raping another resident in the ward where he was living.

In his statement to police, Smith said, "he walked into the victim’s room through the adjoining door. He climbed into her bed while she was sleeping..." Smith admits he then raped her.

Uptowne is the behavioral unit of Woodsedge Point Nursing Home. When he was arrested, Smith was one of two registered sex offenders living in the facility.

The facility where Smith lived until his arrest is owned by a Butler County company named Carrington Health Systems. They own 18 facilities in southwest Ohio, including the Residence at Greystone on Harrison Avenue. While it’s not unusual to find one or two sex offenders living in a nursing home, Residence at Greystone has 20 of them.

"Greystone’s got a ton of them," said a long term care nurse. "I mean a ton of them, and I don't feel comfortable when I go to Greystone."

The nurse, who asked Local 12 not to reveal her identity, frequently works at Carrington facilities. Recently attacked by a client while on duty, she says most nursing homes do not do enough to protect clients or staff.

She says the growing number of violent clients in nursing homes comes down to a simple matter of money.

"In order to be successful, they have to have these beds filled, not empty. You have more and more of these nursing homes being filled with sex offenders, drug abusers, murderers."

Healthcare experts says some nursing homes routinely solicit the Department of Corrections for about to be paroled prisoners, who might qualify for a nursing home bed paid for by Medicare and Medicaid.

"There are facilities who call them up and say, they have beds available," said Beverly Laubert, Ohio Department of Aging. "So when someone's ready to leave prison, there's a nursing home bed available to them."

The attorney for Carrington says his facilities have simply earned a reputation for doing a good job with sometimes hard to place clients.

"Would it be better in Ohio for us to tell them to go live in a home by yourself without supervision?" asked Geoffrey Webster, Carrington Health Systems Attorney. "Instead of nursing facilities, 24 hour a day, seven day a week supervised environment?"

With just that kind of supervision, another Carrington facility, Carlton Manor in Washington Courthouse, has recently come under fire from the Ohio Department of Health for failing to report one resident there, allegedly stomping another one to death. This facility has 18 registered sex offenders in residence.

According to the watchdog group, A Perfect Cause, of the 95 registered sex offenders known to be living in Ohio nursing homes, 43 of them live in Carrington facilities.

Convict Booked on Rape Charge

Man, Victim Lived in Nursing Home

An Arabi nursing home resident who has been convicted of armed robbery and burglary was booked in the aggravated rape of a mentally handicapped resident of the home Sunday night, St. Bernard Parish authorities said.

Robert Sylvester Jr., 48, who authorities said lives at the Maison Orleans Nursing Home, 2310 Mehle Ave., was arrested after the 6:30 p.m. attack.

Sylvester, who authorities said is on parole until 2015 for an armed robbery in Jefferson Parish, is being held in St. Bernard Parish Prison. No bond has been set. Sylvester has past convictions for armed robbery, simple robbery and burglary, authorities said.

An aggravated rape conviction carries a sentence of up to life in prison. Sylvester was booked with aggravated rape because of the woman's mental condition, said Maj. John Doran, chief of detectives for the St. Bernard Parish Sheriff's Office. She also suffers from other health problems, Doran said.

'A Violent Criminal'
Sylvester lives at the nursing home because of a "physical debilitation," Doran said.

"He's a violent criminal," Doran said of Sylvester. "I don't how or why he is in this facility."

Man Denies Allegations
Doran said Sylvester was seen leaving the woman's room and that the door had been closed.

A staff member found the woman, who is in her 30s, crying in her bed, and her underwear was on the floor, according to a sheriff's report. The woman said Sylvester had touched her, the sheriff's report said.

An examination of the woman at Chalmette Medical Center found signs of bruising on her thighs, and a dried substance consistent with semen was on her body and clothing, the sheriff's report said. No information was available on the results of a rape kit exam that was performed.

Deaton, whose agency oversees the licensing and certification of health care centers in the state including nursing homes, said Maison Orleans in Arabi was cited for noncompliance on June 14, 2002, for inadequately training all employees in abuse and neglect prevention. The home was found to have corrected the deficiency on a follow-up inspection on Aug. 23, 2002.

Oklahoma State Department of Health
Comments Before The
Oklahoma State House of Representatives 2005-2006
Health and Human Services Committee
Interim Study
October 4, 2005

Last year we completed a two-year review of reported sexual incidents in nursing facilities. Of the 32 residents found to commit a sexually inappropriate act, none were listed on the Department of Corrections Sex Offender Registry. We now have information that two facilities failed to report incidents, as required by law, involving registered sex offenders.

Of additional concern to the Department is the occurrence of Resident-to-Resident incidents: in the last 12 months there were resident-to-resident altercation reported in 278 of long-term care facilities of all types. Un-audited, this represents in excess of 1,000 resident-to-resident altercations. Most of these incidents involve hitting, slapping, and shoving of residents by another resident. Some involve resident-to-resident sexual assault in the form of inappropriate touching, undressing and even rape.

A 2004 study of Sexual Abuse of Older Adults in Virginia, by Teaster and Roberto, published in The Gerontologist, found that “in 69 percent of the cases in residential facilities, the perpetrator was another resident.”

On Wednesday morning, Hatch said, he was told of an incident involving an alleged murderer at Concordia who had left the facility with a female resident who was a vulnerable adult. The two were missing for four days, he said. "He essentially kidnapped her and then left her on the streets," Hatch said. "There was no report."

NURSING HOME PENALIZED AFTER FATAL ASSAULT ON RESIDENT
THE COLUMBUS DISPATCH
By Kristy Eckert
Sep 3, 2005

A Fayette County nursing home is under investigation after the death of a resident who had been assaulted in his room. His roommate is suspected in the attack.

Police are investigating the Sept. 2 death of Daniel Jacob, 62, but have not filed charges.

The Ohio Department of Health, however, has cited and penalized Carlton Manor for several violations after investigating the incident, records show.

The Washington Court House nursing home could have prevented the death with adequate supervision, said Michelle LoParo, department spokeswoman.

The man suspected in Jacob's assault suffers from several problems, including anxiety, paranoid schizophrenia, depression, dementia and "sexual inappropriateness," a Health Department report said.

At 2:35 a.m. on Sept. 1, he began yelling at Jacob for holding on to the TV cable wire, the report said. A nurse and nurse's aide found Jacob lying on a mat beside his bed, clutching the wire, and placed him back in bed.

But 45 minutes later, Jacob's roommate started kicking and stomping on his face, head and chest, the report said.

Jacob was taken to the emergency room and later returned to the nursing home. Officials there returned him to the local hospital Sept. 2, but Jacobs died en route to a larger, regional hospital.

Jacob's roommate was involved in altercations with other residents four times this year, records show.

Elderly Man Survives Brutal Beating at Retirement Home
WFTV - ABC News 9
Oct 12, 2004

One family's worse nightmare has come true in Central Florida. While sleeping inside the Life Care Center of Altamonte Springs, an 88-year-old man was attacked by another resident.

The Florida Agency for Health Care Administration, along with Altamonte Springs police, are all investigating this mysterious attack.

Keitha Rhodes has never felt so much pain in his life. Besides being humiliated, he's still recovering from a black eye, stitches to his head, and cuts on his hand.

The husband, father, and granddad prays he'll go home soon. His whole family knows he's lucky to be alive.

Saturday night, at Life Care Center of Altamonte Springs, a 76-year-old man attacked him with a wheelchair foot rest. Rhodes was severely beaten.

His family doesn't understand how it was allowed to happen.

"And they can't provide safety and make sure they're protected? Then those people shouldn't be in business," says Ruthie Robinson, the victim's daughter.

The nursing home director would only say patients can't be watched 24-7.

But Altamonte Springs police say the attacker had a history of being aggressive. That's something the director claims is not true and says he doesn't know how that got in a police report.

In its statement, Life Care Center says the attacker was "discharged" from the home and to "ensure safety he will not be readmitted to the building."

Man Accused Of Attempted Rape At Nursing Home
KMBC
Dan Weinbaum
Mar 29, 2004

Jackson County prosecutors charged a Kansas City man with attempting to rape an 81-year-old Alzheimer's patient at a nursing home over the weekend, KMBC's Dan Weinbaum reported.

Larry Walker 49, is charged with one count of attempted rape.

Police were called to Myers Nursing Home and Convalescent Center in the 2300 block of Walrond Avenue Saturday. A nurses aide told officers that she went into the victim's room to get a pad from a cart she left in the doorway and noticed the door was closed. When she opened the door, she claims that she saw Walker on top of the victim.

Walker, who is also a patient at the nursing home, denied that he had been in the victim's room at the time the incident occurred. He also told police his prostate cancer prevented him from performing such an act.

However, prosecutors said Walker's ability to perform sexually wouldn't necessarily factor into the case.

"There's no requirement an act be completed, just that an attempt be made. And that's what he's charged with," said Ted Hunt, with the Jackson County Prosecutor's Office.

Walker has a previous rape conviction from 1971.

The victim did not remember much about the incident, but did say she was scared. Sources said she is doing well.

Sex Offenders, Pedophiles, Inhabit N. Texas Nursing Homes
KVTX - CBS 11 News
By Todd Bensman and Robert Riggs, The Investigators
Mar 2, 2005

CBS-11 Discovers One Nursing Home Resident, "Uncle" Pat Attacked Child

When he was a wheelchair-bound amputee living in a Richardson nursing home, Patrick Wilhoite projected the teddy bear image of playful benevolence that appealed greatly to children. He always instructed the visiting children who came to visit their aged great-grandparents at the nursing home to call him "Uncle Pat." And when visiting youth groups came on outreach visits, staff could always count on a familiar sight: Wilhoite furiously wheeling himself out to greet them so that he could work as their ever helpful, self-appointed tour guide.

But despite the non-threatening picture of a crippled old man in a nursing home, there was nothing kindly, benevolent - or safe - about the former Catholic Church day care worker and clown, according to police and court records. In 2001, Wilhoite pleaded guilty to molesting a 3-year-old girl whom he had secretly befriended during her regular visits to a grandparent who lived in the nursing home. Given probation, he was sent to a different Richardson nursing home until yet another molestation case came to light. He is now in prison.

As for Wilhoite, he will most likely be back in a nursing home soon enough. He is completing a two-year prison term. Wilhoite has surfaced in a Dallas civil lawsuit filed by alleged victims of pedophilia against the Dallas diocese of the Catholic Church. An affidavit he signed acknowledges that he victimized young children repeatedly while working as a day care center.

Wilhoite also ran a business as a clown, which put him in regular contact with children throughout the diocese.

A 1991 feature story about Wilhoite’s clown business in the Texas Catholic shows a photo of him surrounded by young girls helping him put on makeup. He is quoted saying that he planned to expand his clown show throughout the diocese.

May 26, 2004

• Sex Offender W.K. W.K. is a 44-year old male sex offender who was admitted to Concordia from the Minnesota Correctional Facility at Oak Park Heights on or about February 12, 2004. W.K., a Level 2 sex offender, was on supervised release under the jurisdiction of the Minnesota Department of Corrections. In 1997, W.K. was charged with first and second degree criminal sexual conduct against a vulnerable adult. Within days of arriving at Concordia, W.K. developed a “friendship” with a female resident at Concordia. After the patient learned of W.K.’s criminal sexual history, she attempted to end the friendship. W.K. began to follow the female patient and one night was found in her room, hovering over her bed. He was discharged back to the Minnesota Correctional Facility at Lino Lakes in March, 2004 due to his behavior toward the female resident.
